Staff devastated by break-in at charity

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk

STAFF and volunteers at a charity helping the homeless in Harlow were left devastated after thieves ransacked their centre.

Streets2Homes' premises at Wych Elm were broken into on Thursday. A laptop computer was stolen and an attempt was made to break into a cabinet in an attempt to remove a safe.

During the break-in the intruders also broke a window and damaged a door and door frame.

Operations manager Kerrie Eastman was called at 10pm as police attended the scene.

She said: "I'm just devastated, we all are. My laptop was stolen, my cabinet was smashed, they broke a window, the door and the door frame have been kicked in and everything was in a mess.

"It's horrible. My laptop has all my work, including the paperwork and funding applications we need for Streets2Homes. I backed it up two weeks ago but I've done so much work since then.

"It's so upsetting; it meant so much to me as that laptop was a gift from Tesco."

The centre was forced to close on Friday as staff and volunteers cleaned up the mess. Users of the centre were able to go to St Paul's Church instead.

Mrs Eastman added: "It is heart-breaking. We are here to help, we do not judge anybody. We have a fund where we can lend money out so that residents do not cause petty crime or get in trouble.

"We help them if they have no gas or electric and we use other organisations if we cannot help.

"Nobody has the need to do what has been done. They could have just asked for help and we would have helped."

Mrs Eastman, who along with staff, was up until 4am giving statements and sorting through the damage, said the support the charity had received from the Harlow community had been overwhelming.

"The kindness we have been shown has been fantastic. The guys next door - the community payback team - have been so lovely and the messages of

MOVING: Editor Ken Morley, news editor Gemma Gardner and reporter Bianca Castro at the Star's new hub in the Harvey Centre

The HarlowStar is on the move

FROM the beginning of next week Harlow's favourite newspaper will have a new home in the town centre.

After many years at our offices in West Gate, the Star is moving into the Harvey Centre where we will be sharing the Management Suite on the first floor next to Papa's Cappuccino Bar.

Star news editor Gemma Gardner and reporter Bianca Castro will be working from our new hub. So if you have a story for us just pop in or contact Gemma on 07943 152613 or Bianca on 07943 152619.

If you want to place an advertisement you can contact a member of staff in our commercial department by calling (01992) 526666.

And if you do not get the Star delivered to your home you will be able to pick up a free copy from the hub.

In the next few weeks we will also be providing computer facilities in the hub to enable those people without internet access to read the online edition of the Star.

Editor Ken Morley said: "These are exciting times at the Star. Our new hub in the Harvey Centre will place us at the very heart of the community we serve and from where we look forward to meeting our readers."

"We will also be holding special 'meet the team' days to give you the chance to share your views on the paper and talk about what you would like to see included."

"And remember, if you cannot make it into the town centre, you can also contact us by phone or by email to star@hertsexnews.co.uk."

Plans to open a network of youth clubs for town's teens progress

PLANS for a network of youth clubs across Harlow have moved a step closer.

Community representatives including Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Passmores Academy headteacher Vic Goddard met two weeks ago to discuss the proposals.

Also represented at the meeting were Harlow Youth Council, Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce, Harlow Mums in Business, Places for People and the Great Parndon Community Association.

The project, spearheaded by businessman and community stalwart Mick Granger, aims to provide entertainment, support and outreach help to 11-18-year-olds.

There was also discussion about opportunities for market research to establish what else the new clubs should offer.

The next stage will involve forming an official committee, giving the project a name and taking steps towards becoming a registered charity.

The next meeting is planned for early November.

Mystery of man found with head injuries on M11

TWO people arrested following the discovery of a seriously injured man on the M11 sliproad at Harlow on Saturday evening have been released on bail.

The victim was found with serious head injuries at the start of the northbound exit road at the Harlow turn-off of the motorway shortly after 6pm.

The northbound section of the road between junctions 6 and 7 was closed while emergency services were on the scene.

The air ambulance was sent to the scene but the injured man was taken by land ambulance to Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow, where his condition yesterday (Wednesday) was described as "critical but stable".

This week police said they were still investigating the circumstances leading up to the discovery of the man.

A spokeswoman for Essex Police said: "We still don't know whether he was injured as a result of an accident or was pushed out of a vehicle."

STAR REPORTERS

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

Two Lithuanian men, one aged 50 and the other 41, were arrested at the scene on suspicion of attempted murder.

It is understood they were the driver and passenger in a camper van.

No other vehicle was involved in the incident.

The pair have been released on police bail until February 2 while investigations continue.

The victim had no identification on him but police were able to confirm that he comes from Lithuania.

The motorway was closed for six hours, trapping about 1,000 vehicles in the tail-back as police treated the area as a crime scene.

Traffic heading north towards Stansted Airport was diverted onto the M25, the A10, and the A14 east towards Harlow before rejoining the motorway at Harlow.

Charity staff devastated by break-in

After hearing about the break-in, Harlow Labour Party, Harlow Trades Union Council and members of the Unison union at Princess Alexandra Hospital responded with a donation of £400 to the charity.

Members present at a Labour Party meeting raised £100, while Harlow TUC donated £50 and Unison union donated a further £250.

The charity will have to pay the excess on its insurance to have everything repaired and will need to buy a new lockable cabinet as well as replace Mrs Eastman's laptop.

To help the charity, residents can donate directly to the centre by cash or cheque or visit www.localgiving.com/charity/s2h.

READERS LETTERS

No conflict of interest over visit to Travellers camp

SIR With regard to the letter in last week's Star headlined "Councillor cannot pick and choose which title to use", Harlow TUC is disappointed the alleged Labour Party member withheld their name and address.

We and Cllr Waida Forman are more than happy to debate the issue with any member of the Labour Party. Perhaps the author of the letter should have attended the Essex Police and Crime Commissioner's public meeting at Park Inn at which we stated our case.

As to conflict of interest, it is longstanding practice in political and trade union circles that individuals may hold more than one title. In attending certain events it is not uncommon to attend in only one capacity.

With reference to the Passmores site protest, Cllr Forman attended in her capacity as chair of Harlow TUC for the simple reason that Harlow's Labour councillors nor the local party had formally discussed and voted upon a particular Traveller policy.

I am aware the Labour group is scheduled to formally discuss Travellers at its meeting this month. However, Harlow Council has decided a number of initiatives including adding to Travellers' difficulties by seeking a review of powers to enable the swift removal of Travellers from boroughs.

Harlow TUC views the root cause as being decades of refusal of Conservative councils - five in Essex - to build Traveller sites.

Harlow Council is allegedly seeking remedies for the root cause by lobbying Essex County Council. However, it is right and proper for Cllr Forman to make a stand on behalf of Travellers as it accords with both trade union and Labour Party policy and traditions to tackle discrimination in society.

In addition, Cllr Forman is a local branch officer of a Labour-affiliated trade union, a union branch which affiliates to Harlow TUC. This means there is absolutely no question of a conflict of interest between trade union and councillor roles.

On a national level, the United Kingdom has been criticised by both the United Nations and European Union for its failure to honour its' commitments under international conventions in relation to the treatment of Travellers.

On a local level, one of the most galling aspects of the current anti-Traveller campaign is for Robert Halfon to cite the plight of those on the housing waiting list. At the same time he actively promotes the sale of council houses, votes for punitive reductions in housing benefit, refuses to support constraints on private landlords and votes for a 50 per cent reduction in council budgets over the lifetime of this Government.

Ordinary workers need to realise that attacking minorities will not hasten the day that they get a decent and affordable home. However, Harlow citizens may have a better chance if Mr Halfon were to join Cllr Forman in signing up to the Trades Union Congress' Peoples Charter campaign for a decent home for all.

David Forman
secretary, Harlow TUC

SIR I was deeply troubled to read the spiteful and anonymous attack on Cllr Waida Forman in the letters page last week.

If the correspondent really is a Labour Party member they will be aware Cllr

This week's photo was taken by Edward Bailes, of Jerounds, Harlow. "This bird of prey landed on the roof of my neighbour's aviary," he writes. "It stayed for around 10 minutes; it was a real pleasure to watch and take photos."

If you have taken a photo in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

Forman is a popular councillor and, in my opinion, the best we have in Harlow precisely because she participates in additional campaigning rather than shying away from issues in order to crawl to another election victory.

She was a shining light in the campaign against the bedroom tax, she has campaigned against attacks on the NHS in her role as a Unison rep and she was part of a coalition that campaigned against the disgraceful arson attack on the mosque.

There are clearly issues that need to be addressed with regard to the travellers in Harlow in order to find a sustainable solution. However, there is a section of people who are simply resorting to prejudice.

I was at the police and crime commissioner's meeting and some of the comments I heard belong in the Dark Ages. I have also seen some vile attacks and threats made against travellers online.

The fact that Cllr Forman is prepared to stand up against such hatred is a credit to her. It is a shame she was the only Labour councillor to do so.

Cllr Forman is interested in finding a proper solution to the traveller issue rather than capitulating to the "send them back to where they came from" brigade.

I'd rather taxpayers' money was spent on street lights

SIR Our town looks an absolute disgrace. It seems the number of traveller encampments is growing by the day as word is out that you can stay in Harlow with very little hassle.

I would be interested to know where all the new vehicles are registered along with driving licences and road tax.

Why should taxpayers have to put up with all the cuts when tens of thousands of pounds are being spent on the travellers. I for one would like my street lights turned back on at night if there is that much money spare!

Perhaps a visit from the Inland Revenue would have a bigger impact as nothing else seems to be working.

Garage tenant was refused help when blocked by car

SIR Several Harlow Council garage tenants have spoken to me since your article on parking outside garages (Star, September 11), but I was surprised to learn from one tenant that if a stranger parked their vehicle outside your garage then the council says it will do nothing about it.

This tenant explained to me that on several occasions recently she had found that someone had left their vehicle parked outside her garage. She tried leaving a note explaining that the garage was in constant use but found the note crumpled on the ground the following day.

On another occasion this tenant had to get a taxi to work because she could not get to her garage. She contacted the council and asked them to do something about it but was told the council could do nothing to help her.

This means that if a tenant leaves a vehicle outside their garage then the council is prepared to clamp it or take legal action against the tenant but if a stranger parks their vehicle outside your garage then the council is quite happy with this and will take no action.

Situations like this defy logic but it does underline how poor the council is at serving the needs of Harlow residents.

Roy Adams
Kingsland, Harlow

Take a look at the appalling state of our pavements

SIR I know Harlow Council is not responsible for the upkeep of roads and pavements in the town - Essex County Council is. It is not even responsible for parking permits or traffic wardens.

But the one thing I thought they still had a responsibility for was the welfare of the residents of Harlow who elect our councillors and through our council tax pay the wages of the chief executive and his senior managers.

If they would like to meet up with me, I will take them for a walk along Hamstel Road from Addison House towards Princess Alexandra Hospital. The pavement is full of potholes and cracks... and this on a path not just used by the elderly but by sick people, some on crutches going to the hospital.

I could also take them along the pavement to the cycle track going from Hamstel Road to Sainsburys and I am sure they would be appalled at the state of these pavements. There are probably a few hundred people who would like to do the same in the areas they live in.

The problem is that it appears these highly paid officers are quite content to sit in their comfortable offices and play with the new iPads they have just bought for themselves and our 33 councillors. Isn't it about time they earned their pay and chased Essex County Council to do something?

Les Cohen
Rectory Wood, Harlow

We have so much to be thankful for here in Harlow

SIR I am so thankful for Harlow. At the recent civic service at St Paul's Church, council chairman Ian Beckett reminded us of so many things to be thankful for.

As well as things like the green wedges, he mentioned the wonderful unseen work of so many in our community associations and the charitable sector.

And there were wonderful contributions to the service by four choirs, including two schools.

I am proud of Harlow. Ian encouraged us that this community of Harlow will always pull together as one for all in common endeavour (our town's motto). After the service someone said to me that there was a greater community in Harlow than anywhere else they had ever lived.

This week Heart4Harlow will be presenting this year's awards to those from the business, charity, education, leisure and community builders sectors.

Jesus encouraged us to take the small things in our hands and let God use them to change the world around us.

Let us be thankful for the many wonderful people and things around us. As we see, value and appreciate so much, who knows what God will be able to do? And even problems given to God become opportunities.

Rev Martin Harris
Anglican Area Dean of Harlow & Team Rector St Paul's and St Mary's, Upper Park, Harlow

I remember swimming pool had three diving boards

SIR In response to the letter from Mrs P. Bott about Harlow Swimming Pool, back in the 1970s it had three diving boards - a spring board, a second higher fixed board and a third high board.

I used to dive for my school there.

Council seeking law change on encampments

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council is calling on the Government for a change in legislation to help tackle the unauthorised traveller encampments.

The authority has published on its website a series of letters it has sent to the Government over the ongoing problem with illegal traveller encampments.

In a letter to Housing and Planning Minister Brandon Lewis, the council chief executive Malcolm Morley wrote: "Councils should be empowered to remove illegal encampments from any land in the council's area without further recourse to the courts where a court order or a section 61 notice has been served in the previous 12 months."

It continues: "It makes no sense that travellers who are served with a notice under section 61 of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 because of anti-social behaviour are able to simply move on to another site in the same area."

Section 61 notices can only be used by police to remove individuals from land except high-way land.

It can be used to remove individuals and their vehicles from land if three conditions have been met. These are that the unauthorised campers have caused damage to the land or property on the land, they have used threatening, abusive or insulting words or behaviour to the occupier, their family, or employee and there are six or more vehicles on the land.

Following a meeting with Mr Lewis in the summer, Harlow MP Robert Halfon and council representatives called on the Government to offer a clearer description of section 61 notices and they how can be used.

"We do not feel the guidance provided by the Association of Chief Police Officers is particularly helpful in this regard," they said in a joint statement.

'No simple solution' to traveller encampments

FLASHBACK: Star, September 25

"It is this council's view that the criteria for the use of section 61 be reviewed and its use should be mandatory where the criteria are met," the letter adds.

The council also states that the "balance to be struck between the right of travellers and the rights of settled communities in which illegal encampments are situated should be reviewed".

In his reply to Mr Morley's letter, Mr Lewis said section 61 notices and the use of police resources was a matter for the chief constable.

He added: "There is already a range of strong powers available to local authorities, landowners and the police to deal with unauthorised sites."

As the time the Star went to press yesterday (Wednesday) there were eight unauthorised encampments, seven on Harlow Council land and one on private land.

The encampments are at Milwards, Third Avenue/Three Horseshoes Road, Woodhill/Southern Way, the field north of Kingsland/Abercrombie Way, the helipad off Second Avenue, Howard Way/Second Avenue, Pear Tree Mead/Southern Way and Greenway Business Park.

Paralympian to receive MBE at the Palace

HARLOW paralympian Anne Wafula-Strike will travel to Buckingham Palace next week to receive her MBE.

The sportswoman and British Polio Fellowship ambassador, pictured right, was given the award in the Queen's Birthday Honours for her services to disability, sport and charity work. She will be attending the awards ceremony on Tuesday.

The mother-of-one, of Willowfield, will be wearing a dress designed by Izzy Camilleri and headwear courtesy of Lilliput Hats and crafted by the firm's founder, the internationally respected Canadian milliner, Karyn Gingras, for her trip.

"It's not every day you meet The Queen," said Mrs Wafula-Strike.

"I am over the moon with Karyn's designs. They offset the dress perfectly and it was a wonderful surprise when Karyn showed me the fascinator clips prepared to match my evening dress."

Ms Gingras added: "I'm so thrilled to be a part of this project for Anne. My designs compliment the spectacular dress Izzy designed and frame Anne's gorgeous face."

British Polio Fellowship chief executive Ted Hill said the MBE was richly deserved.

Anne has worked tirelessly with the British Polio Fellowship in our 75th anniversary year, raising awareness of the late effects of Polio and PPS. An MBE is a fitting recognition of that and the many other wonderful things she has achieved."

Celebrations for members of Cossor's 25-year club

It is far less common now to see someone stay with a company for 25 years or more and Cossor's 1987 appreciation dinner honoured its longest-serving employees.

The company, which was based in the Pinnacles, celebrated employees' 25 years of service at the business with an appreciation dinner.

Nostalgia reader Bill Golding brought in a small article on the celebrations in 1988 and the celebratory book given to staff in 1987.

The book names 25 members of the Cossor workforce who had completed 25 years of service in 1987.

They were Doreen Arthur, Douglas Bailey, Albert Bassett, Michael Brook, Leslie Champelovier, John Croucher,

Pictured in the photograph, above, are members of the "new quarter century club" as they are called in the article in 1988.

The group also included some staff members who had clocked up 30 years with the company.

Staff were treated to a banquet which was held at Castle Hall in Hertford.

Those who had notched up 30 years of service were presented with watches while those completing 25 years received certificates and pins from company chairman Sir Clifford Cornford.

Watches were presented to Richard Cook, Gerald Cunningham, Vic McCarthy, Mieczyslaw Bilogan, Fred Brittan and Tony Mintram.

War memorials: can you help?

THE Netteswell & Burnt Mill war memorial has many names inscribed on it. Now those behind Harlow's centenary commemorations of the First World War are hoping Star readers will be able to supply them with more information about five in particular. They are:

● Leslie Norman Elves, a general, who died on August 27, 1941;

● Robert Harry Genesis, a pilot officer and flight engineer, who died on April 11,

1943;

● John Arthur Knight, a private, who died on February 27, 1945;

● Cyril Edward Linsell, a corporal, who died on October 12, 1944;

● Kenneth Percy Searle, a general, who died on December 14, 1944.

Creativity is key to consultancy's silver service

CELEBRATING:
Trevor and Joanna Stanesby at Parndon Mill

THE founders of a graphic design consultancy which was started in a spare bedroom 25 years ago is celebrating its silver anniversary.

Blue Pig, which specialises in design for print, web and digital media, marked the milestone by throwing a party for clients, suppliers, friends and family at its offices in Parndon Mill.

Trevor and Joanna Stanesby started the company in 1989 from home but moved to Parndon Mill once the business had outgrown their spare bedroom.

Partner and creative designer Trevor, 52, said: "We wanted a name that was easy to remember and spell, unlike our surname! A bright colour and friendly animal seemed like a winning combination.

"It was a lovely sunny day and a great way to say thank you and to mark this achievement."

He added: "We have enjoyed working with organisations and businesses from around the UK and especially in Harlow.

"Whatever the future holds, we know that it will continue to be a world of creativity."

'Predator' teen had sex with a 14-year-old girl

A HARLOW man branded a sexual predator by a judge has been jailed for three-and-a-half years after pleading guilty to two offences of having sex with a 14-year-old schoolgirl he met using social media.

Jake Lemaire, of Spencers Croft, Harlow, was originally charged with raping the girl twice in February 2012 when he was 18.

But shortly before he was due to stand trial he admitted the lesser charges and was sentenced for them.

Samantha Leigh, prosecuting at Chelmsford Crown Court, said the pair met through the internet and she went to his home in her school uniform.

"They met again after a couple of days and he invited her round, explaining his parents would not be there and they would have the house to themselves," said Ms Leigh "They listened to some music before he took off her hoodie and started to remove her jumper and all of her clothing before they had sex.

"Afterwards, he followed her to her nan's and met up with her and a friend of hers. Then all three went back to his address.

"The friend left and the second offence occurred."

Ms Leigh said DNA evidence linked Lemaire, now 20, to the girl. He also had on his mobile phone an 'F-list' with her name the last on it.

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Janette Hayne, representing Lemaire, said in mitigation he was "very ashamed".

She said that at the time of the offences he was an immature 18-year-old, adding: "He came to contact her due to extreme loneliness, having moved to Harlow from Hoddesson and struck up this friendship."

She added that while he was held on remand in prison he was beaten up and placed on the isolation wing with other sex offenders.

Passing sentence, judge Anthony Goldstaub told him: "This was a serious pair of offences. The essence of the law is to protect young girls from sexual predators like yourself and from themselves."

"You had penetrative sex with the girl when she was 14 and you were 18. You knew perfectly well she was only 14 and knew it was against the law to have relations with her but, nevertheless, you did.

She was upset and frightened by what you did."

Lemaire also placed him on the sex offenders register for 10 years and imposed a sexual offences prevention order and restraining order, both to run for seven years.

Charity shop needs donations and volunteers

A NEW charity shop giving shoppers the chance to bag a bargain has opened in Harlow.

The Barnardo's outlet at the Tesco complex in Church Langley will be stocking a collection of clothes and a treasure trove of knick-knacks.

Barnardo's area business manager Diane Green said: "We are confident people will find what they are looking for at our Harlow store. By shopping with us they will be helping Barnardo's to give disadvantaged children a better future".

The store is appealing for good quality donation and also has opportunities for volunteers to work in its stock room and on the shop floor.

For further information about volunteering at the shop, call (01279) 422905.

Tiger walkers raise £1,000 for Rectory

A FUNDRAISING walk with a difference took place in Harlow and raised more than £1,000 for disability charity Livability.

Organised by the Friends of Netteswell Rectory, the walk was inspired by Mark Parker - known locally as 'The Tiger Man'.

It was Mark's idea to hold the walk and raise funds for Netteswell Rectory where he is a resident. The disability care home, which is home to nine residents, is run by the charity.

Sandra Hart, chairwoman of the Friends of Netteswell Rectory, said: "The walk was a great success, a wonderful atmosphere and everyone taking part had a lovely afternoon.

"We would like to make this an annual event, and hope that more people can take part next year.

"We would like to thank everyone who donated their money and their time to make this the success it was."

Shop anniversary day in aid of BHF

THE Centre in Old Harlow held a charity day to celebrate 20 years since its opening.

The High Street shop, which offers various treatments including osteopathy and chiropody as well as natural therapies, raised £882.62 for the British Heart Foundation.

Andrea Bruce, who is also celebrating 35 years in practice, treated customers on the day and donated all fees to the charity.

Andrea said: "It was an enjoyable and worthwhile way of marking this occasion.

We have grown massively over the past 20 years and felt we wanted to give something back.

"When we first started there was just myself and my husband, Neil. We now have a big team here and it's been a lovely journey."

Parkinsons group's auction fundraiser

MEMBERS of the Harlow branch of Parkinson's UK held an auction at The Chequers in Old Harlow and succeeded in raising £560 for the group.

The group organised an auction with many prizes donated by local businesses.

All the proceeds will go towards the local group which provides advice and support for people with Parkinson's as well as their families and carers.

Anthony Wells, who has been volunteering for Parkinson's UK for eight years and has been diagnosed with the condition himself, said: "It was our first auction and we were very pleased to raise that amount of money.

"With the items we had we were really hoping to raise more than £500. It was a great event."

Friends celebrate newsletter award

THE annual newsletter of the Friends of Harlow Museum has won a national award from the British Association of Friends of Museums.

Cancer patient to run half marathon in aid of trials unit

STAR REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LESS than a year after being diagnosed with breast cancer, a fitness instructor is training to run the Royal Parks half marathon in aid of the unit that treated her.

Mum-of-one Elaine Taylor, 40, from Old Harlow, will be joined by her son Louis, 16, and partner Derek Glover, 60, as well as eight women that Elaine trains at Harlow's Virgin Active Health Club.

All fundraising will go to the clinical trials unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital and St Margaret's Hospital in Epping.

"I had such brilliant treatment from the unit, I was diagnosed so quickly and the team there are so lovely and work really hard," said Elaine.

"The timing was horrific for me. My son was working for his GCSEs when I was diagnosed in November and I had chemo on the day before my 40th birthday, but I'm alive and thankful."

Elaine carried on running classes at Virgin Active throughout her treatment, which included an operation, six rounds of chemotherapy and four weeks of radiotherapy.

"I carried on for my sanity and to show Louis he didn't have to worry about me," she said. "There were times when I couldn't go to work, but I'm quite well now and training is my way of working through it."

"I've always enjoyed running but I'm really looking forward to this. I don't want having cancer to be the only big event in my 40th year."

Associate breast surgeon at PAH, Ashraf Patel said: "I'm so proud of Elaine.

She is an inspiration and I thank her for fundraising for the clinical trials unit. "We rely on the amazing support we get from former patients, their family and friends."

To sponsor Elaine, visit www.justgiving.com/GI-elaine.

Police investigating sex assault renew efit suspect appeal

POLICE investigating the attempted rape of a 65-year-old woman in Harlow have renewed an appeal for information.

Eleven days have passed since the attack during which the victim was pushed into bushes in Southern Way and sexually assaulted.

The victim was able to give police a description of her attacker and police have issued an e-fit image, above, of a man they want to question.

He is described as white, aged in his mid-20s, 5ft 5ins tall, of small to medium build with short dark hair. He was wearing a blue checked shirt and light trousers.

The attack happened at around 6am after the man, who said he was homeless and from Romania, followed the victim.

Police are also continuing to look for another man the woman spoke to shortly before she was attacked. They also believe a grey or silver Ford vehicle drove past when the assault occurred.

Anyone with information is asked to contact police at the West Sexual Offences Investigation Team on 101.

Pub attack victim suffers broken jaw

A MAN was left with a fractured jaw after being punched in the face at a pub in Harlow.

The assault at The Shark pub in Hobtoe Road took place at 10.40pm on Saturday, September 27.

According to police, the 34-year-old victim - who lives in Harlow - was punched following an argument on the pub's dance floor.

Anyone with information about the assault should call PC Louise Howell at Essex Police on 101.

Kier shortlisted for award as a living wage employer

THE company responsible for building maintenance and environmental services on behalf of Harlow Council is in the running for an award as a living wage champion.

Kier Harlow, which was set up as a joint venture between the council and Kier Services in 2007, became the first company in the town to achieve accreditation as a living wage employer in August.

Harlow Council achieved living wage status in May last year.

The living wage - currently £7.65 an hour outside London - is independently set and updated annually.

John Phillips, Kier's regional operations director, said: "This is excellent news for the joint venture and we hope other local businesses will follow.

"We are dedicated to providing the very best opportunities for our employees as well as investing in the communities in which we work. Our commitment to the living wage standard is just a small step in recognising the vital contribution our staff make to the local community and our company."

Council leader Jon Clempner added: "We want Harlow to become a living wage town and therefore this is an issue we will continue to champion.

"The living wage makes a huge difference to people living and working in the town and helps make Harlow a fairer place."

The winners of the awards, which are organised by the Living Wage Foundation, will be announced during Living Wage Week which starts on November 2.

PAY DAY:
Former Harlow Council chairman Mark Wilkinson presents Kier Harlow with its certificate for achieving living wage status

Members sought for school appeal panel

VOLUNTEERS are being sought by Essex County Council to serve on the school admissions appeal panel.

The role of the panel is to rule on appeals by parents whose children are refused places at their chosen schools.

All new members are given training and will attend at least one hearing as an observer before sitting as a panel member.

Appeals are heard during school term times only and will not normally start before 9.30am.

Councillor Ray Gooding, cabinet member for education and lifelong learning at County Hall, said: "This process is crucial in ensuring that children get the right school for them and the best start in their educational life."

To apply to become a panel member, contact school appeals team manager Graham Redgwell on (01245) 430360 or email grahamr@essex.gov.uk

Hospice helps Claire grant her husband's dying wish

THE wife of a St Clare Hospice patient has marked Hospice Care Week by sharing the story of how her husband's book was published.

The care Rodney Matthews and his family received in the final weeks of his life allowed his wife Claire the time to get his book into print before he passed away earlier this year.

To mark Hospice Care Week this week, Claire is among several St Clare supporters who have been helping to raise awareness of the range of services available to local people living with a life-limiting illness.

Retired teacher Rodney was a talented musician with a passion for playing the organ and had been researching and writing a book about the life and work of famous organ builder G.M Holdich.

After receiving the devastating news that he had a brain tumour in November last year, Rodney's family

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

were determined to care for him at home in Old Harlow, but as his health deteriorated he was referred to St Clare and the new Hospice at Home team stepped in.

Claire said: "From the moment those wonderful ladies walked in, they became our saviours in two quite different ways.

"These wonderful St Clare nurses are professionals and they immediately went to work making sure Rodney was comfortable in his own bed and that his medication was correct. I immediately felt so relieved that Rodney was at last having the care he needed.

"Secondly, they were there for me. This was really comforting as I hadn't realised how completely exhausted - both physically and emotionally - I was. Thanks to them I had more time and energy, which allowed me to finish one last thing for Rodney.

"I desperately wanted him to see his 'dream' in print but with the demand of his care I was able to spend less and less time on the book.

"When the St Clare nurses arrived, they gave me back some of this precious time and the strength to carry on. It was such a proud and emotional moment for us all when Rodney held his book for the first time. I'll never forget it."

Copies of Rodney's book, A Reluctant Convert, will be available at an open day being held at the Hastingwood-based hospice from 11am-3pm on Saturday, with a percentage of the sales being donated to St Clare.

For more information, call Karen Griffiths on (01279) 773752 or email karen.griffiths@stclarehospice.org.uk.

Harlow Council chairman Ian Beckett, 51, spent most of his life battling mental illness. Now he wants to help raise awareness of depression. To mark World Mental Health Day he tells GEMMA GARDNER why he's determined to challenge the stigma attached to it.

IAN Beckett is a self-assured and confident man, a father-of-one, a local councillor, with a successful career.

But it wasn't always that way. For years the 51-year-old suffered from major depression and, to cope with his black moods, would often drink.

The chairman of Harlow Council spent most of his twenties and thirties battling his mental illness - until he finally got help.

Today he's made a full recovery but he's still angry about the stigma attached to depression and mental illness.

He explained that mental illness doesn't make someone a bad person, and it's not a character flaw.

Ian, of Spencers Croft, Harlow, said: "It's a big deal, but it's no big deal. It's something we need to shout about.

"The chances are if you haven't experienced it, you will. It's something we should talk about - it should be no big deal."

Depression is more than simply feeling unhappy or fed up for a few days. We all go through spells of feeling down, but when you're depressed you feel persistently sad for weeks or months, rather than just a few days.

Some people still think that depression is trivial and not a genuine health condition.

Depression is a real illness with real symptoms, and it's not a sign of weakness or something you can "snap out of" by "pulling yourself together".

Ian was in his teens when he started to feel depressed.

"My own 'issues' emerged in my teenage years," he explained. "They went unresolved for a number of reasons and returned with a vengeance in my late teens and early twenties."

I learned that putting my needs before others was not selfish

Both his father and his uncle suffered severe mental health problems after the death of their mother, and both, took their own lives.

Ian, who has three older siblings, explained: "I have vague recollections of dad being sectioned when I was very young, literally being taken away by men in white coats."

He first became aware that something was wrong when he was at school. "I was having 'funny turns' at school. I would feel faint and unwell. I was trying to raise the alarm."

Accompanied by his parents, he attended a session with a child psychiatrist. At the end of the session the family decided he would not go back.

"I don't remember much about the first session but I remember at the end everyone leaving and I told my mum I wasn't going back. "I was on the cusp of getting help, and I do look back and resent that."

He explained: "More needs to be done to empower young people to blow the whistle on how they're feeling and parents need help to support their child and get them to the right people."

Ian was almost the same age as his father when he lost him as when his father lost his mother.

"Through my twenties my bouts of depression were sporadic," he explained. "I took antidepressants with a degree of reluctance, as if that just dragged me further down the path my father had gone."

"I was never offered and never felt the need for therapy."

"My bouts were typically triggered by emotional loss - usually the breakdown of relationships or over-committing myself and becoming overwhelmed by the sense of letting people down."

"Everything I did in my life was about helping other people. But I didn't look after myself and then I'd feel bad when I couldn't help others."

"By the time I reached my thirties I was looking for an escape route. Increasingly this route was lined with alcohol."

"Outwardly an extrovert, privately I was increasingly preoccupied with 'the need to be needed'."

If Ian felt that anything resembled not being needed it would turn itself into a feeling of rejection.

He explained: "I can remember an extraordinary sense of relief one summer evening when I stood in the garden and said "ok, depression, you've won again, get on with it, do your worst" - there were times when it was easier to quit than to fight."

"The worst sensation is the feeling that it's never ending."

In his mid-thirties, newly married, Ian had a nervous breakdown and was hospitalised for six months. He eventually found himself at the door of a psychologist.

Over the course of 18 months, initially as an inpatient but then as an outpatient, Ian started on cognitive behaviour therapy.

He explained: "The journey I embarked on was not a smooth one - it was a bit like relearning the facts of life or having a second adolescence with the only constant being my acne."

"My mental health has not been a bed of roses since but nor has it been painfully wrapped with the thorns I so associate with the earlier years."

"I wouldn't have been able to speak about it and my future if I didn't have the support of family and friends, who have enabled me to have a better life."

"I learned that putting my needs before others was not selfish."

A CELEBRATION of Harlow's cultural diversity with musical and dance performances drew crowds to the town centre on Saturday.

Despite then rain, more than 1,200 enjoyed the Black History Month celebrations in Market Square.

The event, organised by the Performing Arts in Traditional African and Caribbean Cultures (PATACC), was opened by Harlow Council chairman Ian Beckett.

The celebrations were themed around the centenary of the start of the First World War.

Kingsmoor Academy took part with an African drumming performance, while dance groups Dance 21, Rainbow Supreme Twirlers and Project G also entertained the crowds.

Another of the day's highlights was an appearance by Michael Jackson tribute act Rory Jackson, pictured left.

Afterwards, a spokeswoman for PATACC thanked those who attended the event, its supporters, the Sharing Heritage project and Essex Community Foundation.

Suzy Stride, Labour's parliamentary hopeful for Harlow, said: "It was fantastic to be involved again this year with the festival marking Black History Month in Harlow."

"The weather may have been wet but that did not dampen our spirits. It was a day that brings the Harlow community together to celebrate diversity."

Academy chosen as centre for excellence for teacher training

A SCHOOL in Harlow has been chosen by the Department of Education to help develop the next generation of outstanding teachers.

Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, has been named as one of just a handful of 'teaching schools' across the country.

The secondary school will join forces with Davenant Foundation School at Loughton for a three-year programme to encourage graduates into the teaching profession.

Associate headteacher John Baleny said: "The DfE asks the best schools in the country to support other schools to improve."

"Burnt Mill has been recognised as being in a strong position to support the development of teaching in other schools. We will do this while making sure teaching and student attainment remain outstanding within Burnt Mill."

Burnt Mill headteacher Helena Mills added: "This is wonderful news for Harlow and will be a way of attracting fantastic teachers to work in the town."

"We will be making sure we get the very best teachers for Harlow and are able to keep them within the town."

"We already train about 10 teachers each year but as a teaching school we will now be able to train even more. We also have the licence to run national qualifications for headteachers and middle leaders and will be inviting other schools to take part in our excellent procedures for professional development."

"We will be a centre for people to come and develop not just their teaching, but to take on additional qualifications to become leaders in education."

She added: "Not all schools which apply are accepted as teaching schools, so this is an amazing responsibility to be given."

Death of teacher with a passion for community

WONDERFUL AND CARING: Former school teacher Gillian Hill, who passed away at the age of 75 on September 23

A TEACHER who worked in Harlow primary schools for more than 30 years has died aged 75.

Gillian Hill, who lived in Greygoose Park, died on September 23 at St Clare Hospice in Hastingwood.

Mrs Hill began her career teaching English and drama at St Marks Catholic School in Tripton Road.

After marrying husband Ernest and having children Sarah, 45, and Matthew, 44, she began working as a supply teacher.

She taught at all of Harlow's junior schools before taking the reception post at The Downs Primary School. Later she became the reception teacher at Jerounds Infant School.

Away from teaching, Mrs Hill was a member of a number of groups. "She really epitomised the sense of community," said her daughter Sarah.

She was a member of the U3A, a painting group, a walking group, a flower arranging group and, in the mid 60s, she joined Moot House Players and remained a member up until the beginning of the year.

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Mrs Hill's mother was an amateur actress and Sarah said it was against that background that her mother developed her interest in drama.

"She was a wonderful, caring person and she had a great sense of humour," said Sarah. "You were always laughing when you were in her company."

Mrs Hill passed away at St Clare Hospice after a battle with methylothoma.

As well as her children she leaves grandchildren Lucy, 20, Daniel, 18, Josh, 14, and Hannah, 10.

The funeral service will, take place at St Mary at Latton Church tomorrow (Friday) at 1.30pm followed by a private burial.

Everyone is welcome to celebrate Mrs Hill's life. Her family have requested that those attending reflect her personality by wearing a splash of colour.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Frankenstein actor's former home for sale

The former weekend home of a 1930s film star is up for sale.

Mead Lodge - once part of the Briggens Estate at Stanstead Abbots - was owned by actor Cedric Hardwicke before the Second World War.

Mr Hardwicke, who died in 1964 at the age of 71, had a film and television career spanning 50 years and has a star dedicated to him on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. Among the films in which he starred were The Ghost of Frankenstein (1942), The Hunchback of Notre Dame (1939) and Things To Come (1936).

Pilots from a Mosquito squadron based at nearby RAF Hunsdon were billeted at Mead Lodge during the Second World War.

William Wells, director of estate agents Mullucks Wells, said: "It's a fabulous home with all the country house ingredients including five-and-a-half acres of grounds, river frontage, mooring and fishing rights."

Mead Lodge is on the market for £1,375,000.

Winter test for gritters

ESSEX County Council's 60-strong fleet of gritter lorries are being mobilised this weekend for pre-season checks in preparation for winter.

The council's highways department, which is responsible for keeping the roads safe during icy weather, said some of the gritters will also be spreading salt to make sure they are working properly.

There's a leopard in the bathroom!

MANY of us have pets at home, with cats and dogs among the favourites.

But one zookeeper in England took things a step further by keeping a cute leopard cub in his family bathroom.

When the cub, named Nimbus, was abandoned by her mother shortly after being born at the Cotswold Wildlife Park in Oxfordshire, zookeeper Jamie Craig decided to take her home and rear her by hand with the help of his children Jai, 13, and Niemi, 10.

"We found her abandoned in the leopard exhibit with another cub who unfortunately didn't survive," Jamie told reporters. "Once we warmed her up and gave her some food it was actually surprising how strong she was.

"We decided the bathroom was the best place to bring her up because she could have free rein. It's also got a very easy floor to clean and obviously she had her own bed in there and everything."

Nimbus spent about six weeks in the house before being returned to the wildlife park where she will be gradually introduced to the other big cats.

"It was a little bit sad to see her go but she left at the right time and now we can have our bathroom back," said Mr Craig.

Nimbus is a clouded leopard which are usually found in the foothills of the Himalayan mountains.

IT takes a special kind of person to wake up at 3.30am, leave a warm bed and travel miles in the wind, snow and rain to hunt for a person who may never be found.

But that's what the volunteers who make up the Essex Search and Rescue do week in, week out, all over the county - and further afield - for no pay whatsoever.

The team can be called to assist with searches of open spaces, car parks and recreation grounds or in the countryside, on open land, fields or in wooded areas.

And they can be scrambled at any time of the day or night, whatever the weather.

This highly trained 35-strong team, which was established in 2002 and who rely solely on the generosity of the public and local businesses to carry out their vital role, are keen to remind people it could be them who needs their help next.

With callouts which could come from Harlow to Harwich and from Saffron Walden to Southend, the team must cover a vast area. And if covering the whole of Essex wasn't enough, the team also assist colleagues in neighbouring counties when they need extra help.

"The message we want to send out is that everyone knows someone who may go missing," said Stephen Nicholas, chairman of Essex Search and Rescue. "This could be for any reason, whether it's that they are old with dementia or they could be mentally ill with nowhere to turn and at that moment they can call us."

"I remember a particular search in Ingatstone where we managed to locate a missing lady. One of the family members approached us to thank us for the time we had spent looking for her."

Volunteer search teams on call 24 hours a day

ON THE ROAD: Left, Essex Search and Rescue chairman Stephen Nicholas, Bradwell Power Station director Paul Drew, and Search and Rescue officers Geoff Cousins and Matt Cloke with the new van

"To see the relief on their faces, with tears in their eyes, it was a great feeling."

The team go through a rigorous training scheme before they can join. Their training includes first aid, navigation techniques, and radio operation, and they continue to train two days every month, updating a log book, which keeps track of their skills.

Stephen, who retired from a role in IT three years ago, chose to get involved after reading a leaflet about the number of searches that Essex Police conduct for missing persons.

"If someone is despondent or has dementia then it can be scary to hear that they have gone missing," he said.

"We are a very small charity, we don't have the media departments and PR that other companies have so we do most of that ourselves. We are entirely self-funded so that part of the job can be hard work."

Following his retirement, Stephen wanted to spend a little bit more time in the outdoors and felt the charity was a great opportunity to become involved in volunteering.

He added: "I spent my whole working life behind a desk so I wanted to do something completely different, I was interested in volunteering and this sounded perfect."

The organisation was set up in 2002 to mirror other branches in Suffolk, and works closely with Essex Police, even operating out of a specially adapted vehicle stationed at the police depot in Boreham.

Their new £9,500 van was recently funded by Bradwell power station owners Magnox, working in partnership with the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority.

Chartered surveyor Matt Cloke, 42, is a veteran of over 400 callouts and has been involved with the organisation for eight years.

He said: "Our main role is to assist Essex Police in searching for high-risk people. But whoever needs to be found we can help, regardless of their background."

"After a brief discussion, when we arrive at a certain area we will establish a search plan and then conduct a physical search."

"It is a lot of commitment but if you wanted to give something back and make a difference then this would be great for you."

>>>The Essex Search and Rescue team is always looking to recruit new volunteers and would gratefully accept any donations. For more details, visit essexsearchandrescue.org.uk.

SCHOOL NEWS

Nursery's kitchen opened by one of Jamie's chefs

RAINDROPS DAY NURSERY Youngsters and staff at the Harberts Road nursery welcomed a special guest to officially open their new kitchen.

Andy How, who was trained by celebrity chef Jamie Oliver, met the staff, children and the nursery's own chef Tony Chaffe, pictured right, during his visit.

The nursery, which provides hot meals for the youngsters, built a new kitchen to cook food after Hare Street School, which used to provide hot meals for the nursery, no longer had the capacity to do so.

Nursery manager Christine Chaffe said she believed Jamie Oliver's high-profile school meal campaign should also apply to nurseries.

She said: "It is a big thing for me to provide children with hot meals every day. Andy was so impressed after his visit that he has offered to come in and meet parents to teach them how to cook different dishes.

"It does not matter what the circumstances are for our children, we will provide them with an amazing experience here and a hot, nutritious meal.

"We are providing a terrific range of food and have a three-week menu so they get to try a range of food. It is all cooked from scratch and we do want to eventually provide tea as well as lunch."

Children inspired by Roald Dahl stories

ST LUKE'S CATHOLIC PRIMARY Children and staff at the Pyenest Road school took inspiration for their fancy dress outfits from the stories of Roald Dahl as the school celebrated the work of the popular children's writer.

Youngsters dressed up as oompa loompas, witches and ladybugs for the themed day.

Literacy co-ordinator Sarah Niven said: "The children were celebrating their biggest Roald Dahl day ever.

"We organised it to raise awareness of Roald Dahl's Marvellous Children's Charity which helps improve the lives of seriously ill children in the UK."

Young poets scoop prizes in gallery competition

SHEERING PRIMARY Three talented pupils won prizes in the Lest We Forget poetry competition at the Gibberd Gallery, in Harlow.

The trio, who are all from Quickbury class, received book tokens for their poetry based around the First World War.

Hayden Smith, 9, who was also awarded Star of the Week for his success, won first prize with his poem called Emotions about his great-grandfather Frank Osborne.

Marni Burgess won second prize and Harry Pennell was named the runner up.

The poems were all read out at a special event at the Gibberd Gallery which the children and their families attended as well as headteacher Lorna Brittain and teacher Pauline Guinan.

Ms Guinan said: "We decided to take part in the competition as the gallery holds some fantastic events and exhibitions and it's great to get the children involved.

"We have a memorial right in front of our school so began our poetry week by going out to view the poppies there.

"We were extremely lucky as Lynnette Bonfield very kindly came and played The Last Post and The Reveille for us by the memorial, in between which we had a minutes silence to remember all those who had lost their lives in wars."

What to do if you sustain an injury in the workplace

IF you have an accident at work or contract a disease caused by your job, you may be entitled to claim industrial injuries benefits.

You should investigate claiming industrial injury benefits and personal injury compensation if this applies to you.

Self-employed people do not qualify for industrial injuries benefits unless it is clear that they are not genuinely self-employed.

The Department for Work and Pensions pays industrial injury benefits. Unlike most personal injury compensation claims, the DWP scheme is no-fault.

To avoid potential loss of benefit, claim as soon as you think you might be entitled. A DWP healthcare professional will carry out an assessment.

Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit is the main industrial injuries benefit. It is paid to those who have suffered disablement from a loss of physical or mental faculty caused by an industrial accident or prescribed industrial disease.

You may qualify for Reduced Earnings Allowance if you had an accident or

Harlow Advice Centre

Harlow Advice Centre is based on the first floor of Harlow Central Library in The High. Telephone (01279) 704002 or email admin@harlowac.org.uk. Opening hours are Monday noon-2pm and Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10am-2pm. Out of hours appointments are available if necessary.

started to have a prescribed industrial disease before October 1, 1990. A successful REA claim can be made now if you had an accident or disease before this date.

In addition to IIDB and REA, the DWP industrial injuries scheme includes a range of additional allowances including Constant Attendance Allowance and Exceptionally Severe Disablement Allowance. Retirement Allowance is also payable in some cases.

Industrial injuries benefits are not taxable or means-tested. However, they are taken into account when calculating means-tested benefits.

Industrial injuries benefit claim forms can be obtained by contacting the Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit Delivery Centre on 0845 758 5433 or 0345 758 5433.

advice on industrial injuries benefits.

For personal injury compensation claims your employer normally has to be partly at fault. There are some exceptions to this rule - e.g. deafness - where unions and employers have negotiated no-fault compensation schemes. The time limit for filing personal injury claims is three years from the date of the accident or three years from the date you became aware that a disease or condition was caused by your work.

Some benefits payments are deducted from personal injury compensation payments. It is still worth claiming these benefits because it can take months, or in some cases years, for personal injury compensation claims to be decided.

Country singer Sophie aims for Nashville

NASHVILLE or bust is the aim of budding country singer Sophie Heard, who has made it through to the regional finals of the nationwide Open Mic singing competition.

The 20-year-old is a former pupil of Harlow's Burnt Mill Academy and currently works at a soft play area in the town, hosting birthday parties for children. But she dreams of a career in showbusiness.

"I've been working at breaking into the music industry and this competition takes me one step closer," said Sophie, from Little Ccanfield. "Being a country singer-songwriter, there's a gap in the market and I'm working towards getting my name in that spot."

"I've always wanted to go to Nashville but my funds haven't allowed me to, so winning this competition would make me able to finally go."

Open Mic UK 2014 is the biggest search for unsigned talent in the UK, travelling the country every year in search of the best singers in a series of showcases.

The competition is organised by Future Music, the company behind the discovery of artists such as Atlantic Records' Jacob Banks, Warner Music's Birdy, Sony Music's Jaymi Hensley from Union J and Jahmene Douglas, Luke Friend and Columbia Records' Lucy Spraggan.

Over the years the competition and Future Music claim to have discovered some of the best new talent and propelled them to the big stage, working closely with Sony, Universal, Warner and Syco.

Thousands of aspiring music stars entered Open Mic UK and hundreds of hopefuls attended on the day for their chance to impress the judges.

Those who, like Sophie, made it through the audition stage will now take part in a head-to-head battle with the best talent in their region, performing in front of an audience of hundreds and a music industry judging panel in their bid to win a place in the national final.

Events co-ordinator and head of Future Music Chris Grayston said: "Every year that we hold this competition the bar is raised and the quality gets higher and higher."

"For promising singers, songwriters, rappers and vocalists, Open Mic UK provides a real opportunity to open the door to a music career by showcasing their talent to music industry professionals and audiences across the country."

Talented pair land film and TV roles

TWO youngsters at the Kevin Adams School of Performing Arts in Harlow have won parts in film and on television.

Lily-Rose Aslandogdu, who is in the school's Panther class, will be starring in her first feature film, called A Monster Calls, alongside Liam Neeson and Sigourney Weaver.

Earlier this year the budding star starred in a Save The Children awareness video which got than 33 million views on YouTube.

Lily-Rose said: "This is a very exciting time for me, with my first film and my new senior school. I'm really looking forward to it."

Kevin Adams, who runs the performing arts school at Passmores Academy, said: "Lily-Rose's down-to-earth, laid back attitude has helped her make an amazing start in the business with her feet firmly anchored on the ground by herself and a very close knit family unit."

Fellow student Kayci Hamil, who started at the academy to boost her confidence and is also in Panther class, has won a part in the next series of the BBC drama Call the Midwife.

After a successful first audition and recall, she was told by producers that she had got the part.

Kevin said: "Her shyness was the reason she started at the academy and that is clearly behind her now."

"Her family were so proud when she got through her first audition and then got the part. They have said they couldn't be happier."

He added: "I have waited a long time to find the right agent that would be able to give my students a good chance at auditioning and testing themselves in the performing arts field that they had been training for."

"We have another two students about to film commercials and advertising work, with a further eight on castings. It truly has been worth the wait to see students and parents all enjoying the experience."

Great musical had audience on their feet

Copacabana

The Playhouse, Harlow

TALES of starstruck young performers turning up at big city nightspots, determined to find fame and fortune, are legion within the entertainment world.

As soon as song and dance girl Lola Lamar (Jennifer Harding) sets foot on the stage, bursting with enthusiasm and naivety in equal measure, there are no prizes for guessing where this story is going – or where it is going to end.

In Barry Manilow's cheery and fast-paced musical, the gullible but talented youngster is initially rebuffed by the Manhattan nightclub management, then given her chance – only to be drugged, kidnapped and flown off to Havana (this is pre-revolutionary Cuba) by sinister club owner/crime boss Enrico Castelli (Ricky Johnson).

Can she be saved? Of course she can! Nightclub favourite Tony Starr (former S Club singer Jon Lee) dashes to the rescue, winning the heart of the lovely Lola and guaranteeing the requisite happy ending.

Written by Manilow and his long-time collaborators Bruce Sussman and Jack Feldman, Copacabana has not been seen in the UK for 10 years and this three-night run at Harlow premiered a revised version of the original show.

With a pared-down set and the highly accomplished band tucked away under an elevated walkway, the performers were able to command the stage with their dazzling costumes and stunning dance routines.

But it was Manilow's songs that truly grabbed the attention. Hits including Dancin' Fool, Who Needs To Dream, Welcome to Havana and, of course, the Grammy Award-winning Copacabana (At The Copa), had the audience on their feet and dancing in the aisles.

And the cast worked hard to deliver the songs in style with some powerful vocal performances. Jennifer Harding (Lola) and Sharon Sexton (Castelli's discarded mistress Conchita) brought warmth and passion to their roles while Ricky Johnson's rich baritone voice made for a suitably sinister Castelli. There was humour too, thanks in the main to Lucy Garrioch's feisty and magnificent cigarette girl, Gladys, while Jon Lee made for a charming and romantic Tony.

A great show! I heard the phrase "West End standards" mentioned on more than one occasion. No wonder the audience was on its feet and clapping along to the beat. Manilow fans must have been wishing the great entertainer himself could've been up on the Playhouse stage.

That was never going to happen, of course, but they had the next best thing – some of his best-loved songs.

The Guide

GARDENING / COMPETITION

THE leaves are starting to fall, the lawn needs rejuvenating, the flowerbeds could do with a tidy-up and overcrowded plants can be lifted and divided.

Autumn is potentially a busy time in the garden so it's essential to have the right tools for the job to help make the season relatively pain-free.

There are some tools which will make your life easier in autumn and if you invest in the best now, you will appreciate their quality in years to come. Here are some essential tools for particular jobs:

Secateurs: There is a wealth of secateurs on the market but it's worth investing in a good quality pair that will last for years if you look after them.

Felco no 6 secateurs are ideal for small hands, with blades made from high quality carbon steel while the handles are made from forged aluminium alloy (£59.99, www.felco.com and Wyevale Garden Centres).

Fiskars award-winning Quantum B100 bypass secateurs (£65) are also a good product, available nationwide in garden centres, DIY stores and online.

Rakes: It's important to clear leaves from the lawn because they can smother and weaken grass roots by reducing their oxygen intake. They can also harbour pests and diseases which may re-infect plants in later years.

There are many rakes on the market but among the best is the Fiskars Garden Light Leaf Rake, available in medium or large, which has a tough plastic head and an ergonomically designed lightweight hardened aluminium shaft and comfortable soft grip handle. (£29.99 each, available nationwide at DIY stores, garden centres and online).

If you want mechanical help, try the Bosch ALS 2500 garden vacuum to collect the leaves from the patio and shed them, - taking full advantage of the machine's

Picking the right tool for the job

1:10 shredding ratio. (£79.99, www.bosch-garden.com)

Springtime rakes: These are perfect tools for removing thatch and moss from the lawn in both autumn and spring without damaging existing grass.

Wolf-Garten's springtime rake (£29.99, handles separate) is a good bet from its 'multi change' range. A selection of tool heads fit every handle.

Alternatively you can buy electric scarifiers which are useful if you have a large lawn, or pushable manual versions. However, some of them can also rip up the grass so be careful which one you choose.

Which? Gardening found the Al-Ko Combi-care 32VLE Comfort Lawn Rake/Scarifier (£169) to be its best buy in tests, complete with swapping cylinders, height adjustment and collection bag.

Forks: Digging in organic matter to enrich your soil is one of the primary jobs in autumn so the ground is ready for planting in spring - and a good garden fork is perfect for this job.

You'll also need a fork to lift plants which you want to move or divide in autumn.

Buy the best quality one you can as so many cheaper versions end up with prongs bending or even snapping under duress. Among the best is the made-in-UK Bulldog classic premier garden fork, which has a head made from a single piece of steel and an ash shaft and handle and comes with a lifetime guarantee (£50.67) or the smaller, lighter shrubbery fork (£49.74).

Bulb planters: You can use a hand trowel and fork to do this job but bulb planters lift a core of soil, enabling you to plant bulbs quickly and are useful in soil that holds together well but is not too heavy.

There are many good ones on the market. Instead of having to kneel to do the job you can buy them with a long handle so you can push the planter in with your foot.

Burgon & Ball's long handled bulb planter (£29.95) was selected as finalist for RHS Chelsea Garden product of the year 2014. The cut away angle on the top of the blade allows easy access to remove the plug of soil and place back in the hole to cover the bulb you have planted.

Things to do in the garden

Plant spring-flowering hardy annuals and biennials as soon as possible.

Plant new evergreens

Continue to plant spring-flowering bulbs in borders and in containers

Net the pond to protect it from autumn leaves

Start to prepare the garden for winter, cleaning garden furniture before putting it away

Put insulation in the greenhouse to conserve heat

Collect seedheads now before they are shed and lost

Clean up gladiolus corms before storing them

Take in pots of amaryllis, crinums and nerines to protect them from waterlogging and frost

Clear the ground for new beds, digging and leaving soil rough for the frost to break it down

The Maze Runner (12A, 113 mins)

Life or death battle to escape the maze

BASED on the bestselling novel by James Dashner, this testosterone-fuelled survival thriller is cast from the same robust mould as The Hunger Games and Divergent.

Like those dystopian nightmares, Wes Ball's film centres on naive characters teetering on the cusp of adulthood and who are forced to make stark choices between life and death to secure freedom.

Adolescent males are trapped in the moral mire and forced to establish a microcosm of self-governing society in which the strongest take charge and the meek keep their heads down.

While The Hunger Games and

Divergent expended valuable time establishing character back stories and motivations, this opening salvo of The Maze Runner employs a nifty cheat - amnesia.

All of the protagonists are stripped bare of memories including their identity, emerging from the darkness of a lift shaft into an enclosed green space called The Glade as blank slates.

Gargantuan walls enclose The Glade and every morning one wall parts to reveal a maze which 'runners' like Minho (Ki Hong Lee) map while avoiding hideous denizens called Grievers in the vain hope of finding an exit.

The runners must return before dusk when the wall closes and the maze reconfigures.

New arrival Thomas (Dylan O'Brien) forges friendships with Alby (Aml Ameen) - the de facto leader who has been in the prison for three years - as well as his second-in-command Newt (Thomas Brodie-Sangster) and runt of the litter Chuck (Blake Cooper). However, he falls foul of brutish rival Gally (Will Poulter).

For the opening hour The Maze Runner is lean and taut, rattling along at breakneck speed. The threat of bloodshed hangs in the air but it's only when Thomas strays into the labyrinth that the film unveils a surprisingly nasty streak, despatching the good-looking cast in a shockingly cold and clinical fashion.

Director Ball doesn't succumb to squeamishness or sentimentality and death comes quickly and gruesomely as the strongest, most noble and endearing characters are prime fodder for the rampaging Grievers.

O'Brien and Ameen anchor the young ensemble with fine performances, with sterling support from Lee, Brodie-Sangster and Poulter.

IN sun-baked 1967 California picture perfect couple John (Ward Horton) and Mia Gordon (Annabelle Wallis) are preparing to welcome their first child into the world.

Late one night Mia is woken by a disturbance next door and when John checks on neighbours Pete and Sharon Higgins (Brian Howe, Kerry O'Malley), he and Mia are attacked by two murderous cult members. Police arrive in the nick of time, shooting dead the crazed attackers and spilling the blood of female perpetrator Annabelle Higgins on Mia's favourite limited edition doll.

Thankfully, Mia, John and their baby daughter survive the hellish ordeal but the killers were members of a sect called the Disciples of the Ram, who conjure demonic forces with their human sacrifices.

The Gordons move to a new apartment but dark forces follow them and drive Mia to the brink of a nervous breakdown. She seeks emotional support from local priest Father Perez (Tony Amendola) and kind bookshop owner Evelyn (Alfre Woodard).

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WE have had a good run but now we have said goodbye to September, autumn is definitely on its way.

The mornings are much cooler and I'm sure I'm not the only one already losing the annual battle to keep the garden leaf-free.

It's at this time of year that you have to feel sorry for commuters. As they make their way to Harlow's two rail stations they are facing darker mornings and evenings, cold and wet weather and, of course, the associated travel disruption such as leaves on the line, frozen points etc.

If you're a commuter or live with someone who is, is it about this time of year that you start to wonder if where you live is worth it? Yes, it's lovely to be among some stunning countryside across Essex and Hertfordshire but have you considered how much more you would pay to live closer to work?

According to a survey carried out by the Halifax, London and its commuter belt extensive transport network means that 94 per cent of homes are just under a mile of a station. Compare that to Glasgow (72 per cent) or Manchester (69 per cent).

Unless you have been living on Mars, you'll also know that London is likely to have the highest premium for living near transport links - 10.6 per cent (or £42,000 on the average house) for properties within 500m of a train or subway station.

The further away you go, the more the premium falls - by roughly 25 per cent for 750m and then by around 50 per cent for 1,000m.

So the next time you're battling the crowds at Liverpool Street, look on the bright side. You'll get a great deal more for your money out this way... even if you do spend your weekends raking up the leaves!

"Your Secret Agent?"

Many estate agents will flatter you and promote themselves by claiming that they'll get you the "highest price in the shortest possible time". This is easy to say, but not so easy for most agents to justify or indeed deliver! Effective property sales involve a combination of great presentation, attractive pricing and effective marketing along with a host of other techniques that facilitate a successful sale.

As innovative estate agents with our finger firmly on the pulse of the local property market, we do things a bit differently at Howick & Brooker Estate agents. One of the innovations that we have recently introduced is the "secret agent" concept whereby a property is offered "off-market" - and it's proving to be hugely effective.

In essence, instead of bringing your property to market in the expected way with the usual initial exposure across the property portals, local advertising, window display, website, etc, we make it quietly known to suitable pre-qualified buyers that the property is "about to come onto the market". This "advance notice" really excites buyers as they feel they have exclusive access to a property that other buyers do not. During this pre-marketing phase we find that buyers are more likely to pay the full asking price rather than lose out.

This technique is especially effective for properties that could possibly command an excellent price from one of a small pool of buyers, or where the vendor wants to try an ambitious price for a short period of time without exposing the property to the risk of going stale on the market - one of the worst things that can happen to a property!

Alternatively, if you have a property that has remained unsold for several months, it might just be worth "withdrawing" it from the market and reoffering it in this way, with us as your "secret agent". You might be in for a pleasant surprise!

Why not call us today on 01279 418888, in confidence, to see how a more creative approach to property sales can pay real dividends.

Paul Brooker

Scrap Cars*End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Ladies secure first victory as men are beaten

THERE were mixed fortunes for Harlow Hockey Club, as the women's first team picked up their first win of the season, while the men's team suffered a first defeat.

It was Harlow Ladies' first home match of the Essex Hockey League, premier division season, as they took on bottom club Old Southendian.

The hosts opened the scoring after Emma Twiddle had her shot initially saved but then picked up the rebound and passed to Steph Hawes who finished with aplomb.

Charlotte Byers and Castle, among others, had further shots saved before Thomas was on hand to slot a rebound in for her first of the season.

There was no further score as Harlow secured a valuable win.

Harlow's men lost 1-2 at home to East London in the East Hockey League division six south east.

Harlow took the lead in the first 15 minutes after Hagger ran past a couple of defenders and then passed to Andrew Boughtwood, who then beat the keeper before playing a square pass to Rhys Mace who was left with a simple tap-in.

The lead was short-lived as East London broke and equalised with only minutes left of the first half.

With 15 minutes left Harlow's concentration slipped, allowing the away team to capitalise and grab what proved to be a winner.

Defeat left Harlow in sixth, and they travel away to Saffron Walden on Saturday.

Harlow Ladies II continued their winning streak by beating Waltham Forest IV 4-0 in the Essex Women's Hockey League on Saturday.

Harlow's first goal came when Samantha Care crossed the ball from the defensive line to Tracey Taylor who managed to tap it in past the Waltham Forest keeper.

Harlow doubled their lead when good link-up play between Kelly Ball, Lara Horrax and Sarah Donaghey enabled the latter to rifle a straight strike from the top of the D, making the half-time score 2-0.

Harlow made it 3-0 when a Tanishaka Naidoo pass allowed Taylor to score her second goal of the game.

Naidoo flicked the ball over the keeper's pads to complete the rout.

EIGHT-year-old Thomas Banks (Sawbridgeworth Brewery) hit a double six outshot for his first league match finish to win his team game.

Top test next up for Rams looking to end losing run

AFTER two defeats including a cup exit, Lee Harron's Rams could probably do without facing RFU London division three north east leaders Wanstead away this Saturday.

Wanstead are one of three undefeated teams in the division.

Harlow bowed out of the RFU London & South East Senior Vase after a defeat at Welwyn on Saturday.

The London division three north west side defeated Harlow 24-12.

Welwyn..... 24
Harlow ..... 12
(RFU London & South East Senior Vase, first round)

Despite their opposition being third in their league, Harlow were ahead for a large portion of the match, only losing touch in the closing stages.

After going behind to a penalty, the Rams hit back and a drive over the line saw lock Jonathan Unwin touch down for the try.

Scott Whitby slotted the conversion for a 7-3 lead.

Harlow extended the lead a few minutes later when they won clean ball from a ruck in the Welwyn half.

Barney Goodey took a clean pass out wide and sprinted past several defenders to touch down in the corner. The conversion was missed.

series of matches at Bancroft Rugby Club.

The Young Rams lost their first match 6-5 to Bancroft in a thriller full of excellent tries.

Harlow's second match was against Dagenham.

Harlow led by four tries to two at half-time, but Dagenham fought back to win 6-5.

Harlow's man of the match was debutant Charlie Marshall, for both the tries he scored and a fantastic tackle.

Minis supremo Paul Eynon said: "All who have been following the Harlow U10s, both this season and last as U9s were full of praise for the way they played today."

"They were all fully motivated throughout. It was great to see the new additions to the squad, fitting in and playing valuable parts to the overall performance."

"Despite not winning, the boys should be really proud of the way they all played. The Wanstead coach who refereed both matches spoke of how impressed he was by the turn around of the team from last week, and congratulated Charlie [Marshall] on his debut match."

HARLOW Rugby Club's U9 section took on teams from Bancroft, Wanstead, Ilford and Dagenham in a series of matches at the weekend.

The Young Rams' first team drew 4-4 with Bancroft in their first game.

There was good tackling all round and a last-gasp try to draw the game.

Archie Allen and Tobie Ayres were excellent in defence. Montell Levy bagged all four tries (point for each try).

Harlow's second team triumphed 5-4 against Wanstead after being three tries down.

James Forde scored the decisive try.

Joe Court got three tries and Tobie Westbrook bagged the other.

Harlow's second team then lost 5-3 against Bancroft. Tobie Westbrook did well to run in a try. Joe Court got the other two tries.

Harlow's first team then lost 5-2 to Wanstead.

Montell popped up with two tries for Harlow.

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman was left fuming with the officials after Saturday's goalless draw with AFC Sudbury.

"I know people say it week in week out but the officials have got to be looked at because it is not good enough at this level for me," blasted Chapman.

Sudbury defender Ryan Henshaw clattered into Hawks captain James Smith in the 63rd minute, but the challenge went unpunished by referee Sam Lewis.

"The player could have broken his leg," he said.

Chapman also believed that his side had a legitimate penalty appeal ignored by the officials.

"It couldn't have been any more stone wall. Their defenders got too tight to [Alex] Read, he has rolled him and as he has rolled him he has just brought him down," he said.

"I think it comes down to having a little bit of bottle and again the linesman on our near side should be putting his flag up for that.

"But that is something else with officials that the ball goes out for a throw-in and instead of the linesman giving what he sees, he waits for the referee to point in a certain direction before he puts his flag up.

"Well I don't see the point of having linesmen if that is the case and it's not just today it is a regular occurrence."

The Hawks boss was not pleased with his side's display and admitted that Sudbury's game plan worked.

"It was a difficult day really because I don't think we have played well today at all," he said.

"I think they came here with a game plan and fair play to them for having one, they came here to disturb us and to get amongst us and we allowed them to do that, having said that I still think we had the chances to win the game and at the end they had a couple of chances so they could have won it.

"It's been a frustrating day and we know we can play much better than that, if you want to take the positives out of the game, the positive is that we have kept a clean sheet which we haven't done apart from today."

Harlow had two appeals for spot-kicks, both when Alex Read, was felled, turned down.

However, Sudbury could have snatched all three points at the death but Hawks left-back Layne Eadie cleared off the line after Sudbury substitute Joshua Kerridge raced clear and thought he'd scored when he rolled the ball past keeper Ed Thompson.

With Needham winning, Harlow lost top spot.

"It isn't the end of the world, we are still unbeaten," added Chapman.

Flying start in new division

SAUL Friedner's reign as new head coach of Harlow Hawks got off to a great start as they defeated Hitchin Kings 66-57.

Alex Hinds opened the scoring in the Herts Premier County League division one clash with a baseline drive to the basket before a three-pointer from Shab Niaz, playing his first league match in nearly a year.

Despite further scores from Hinds and Tom White, the Kings established a 13-19 advantage.

In the second quarter, the Hawks enjoyed an 18-8 run as Russ Allan and Richard Whytock were able to convert on the fast break.

New signing Daniel Cohen made an impressive debut, contributing nine points off the bench including a three pointer and a number of strong drives to the basket as the Hawks led 31-30 at half-time.

In the third period, some sensational shooting from Niaz buoyed the Hawks.

A total of five three pointers (15 points) from the Hawks veteran and one from David Griffin spearheaded an 18-6 run in the opening minutes.

Despite this, Hitchin scored freely and Harlow were just a point up (50-49) heading into the final quarter.

The Hawks defence continued to impress in this period, with some imposing play from Nick Moss and Stuart Burgess.

Niaz and Cohen benefited from easy lay-ups at the other end.

Hawks led 56-50, but eight points from Hinds including a high arching jump shot with a minute left and free throws from Allan sealed the victory. HARLOW HAWKS: Niaz (22 pts), Hinds (16 pts), Cohen (11 pts), Allan (6 pts), White (4 pts), Griffin (4pts), Whytock (2 pts), Morris (1 pt), Moss, Burgess, Friedner, Rozgonyuk.

Equestrian vaulting team's licence to thrill

A NINE-year-old from Harlow was jumping for joy after helping her equestrian vaulting team to be crowned English grass roots champions.

Sheri-Anne Smith joined Charlotte Jefferson, David Hamp-Adams, Jess Valentine, Jemima Spencer and Katie Taylor from Ware's Contessa Riding School, to wow the judges at the English Vaulting Championships at Moulton College Equestrian Centre, Northants.

They performed a brilliant James Bond-themed routine.

The lunge was Jacqui Cambell.

The individual walk championships also went to Charlotte in class C and Katie in class B.

The Contessa vaulting team was started by proprietor Tina Layton in 2008.

They currently have five vaulting horses, the best of which is championship horse Furgus.

The team is coached by international vaulter Sarah Gemmell who also won her senior class.

Sheri-Anne said: "I've only been vaulting six months. This was my first major competition and I loved every minute of it."

Team-mate Katie (12) added: "The competition was an exceptional experience and I can't wait for the next one!"

Charlotte, at 25 one of the oldest in the team, said: "I like vaulting because it's a team sport and it's always fun putting the moves to music.

"The competition was great to see lots of other teams' themes and routines.

"I'm really pleased with our team's performance, especially as it was some people's first competition."

Equestrian vaulting is gymnastics on horseback, and teams are judged on posture, body control, ease of movement and balance.

There are six vaulters on each squad and each vaulter must complete the compulsory routine.

Layton said: "We're very proud of the way they performed and that they have done so well.

"They all practice very hard and deserved to win."

Boss swoops for defender

HARLOW Town boss Danny Chapman has completed the signing of former Barnet defender Warren Goodhind.

The veteran defender, who has played in the Football League as a professional, is set to be included in the squad for Saturday's Ryman division one north trip to Barkingside.

Goodhind has switched across from Harlow's neighbours Cheshunt.

The Harlow boss is still looking to sign a winger, particularly as Shane Stamp (ankle) is out for another fortnight.

Central defender Dave Kendall (hamstring) came through 85 minutes as Harlow progressed to the second round of the Robert Dyas League Cup after a 2-1 victory at close neighbours Ware on Tuesday, stretching their unbeaten run to 15 games.

The Hawks opened the scoring halfway through the first half when midfielder Dave Cowley curled a superb shot into the net, which crept in off a post.

Chapman is delighted with Cowley's goal tally this term. He purred: "He is doing very well. He scored a great goal. You can see he has got that in him and long may that continue."

Alex Read hit the second in first-half stoppage time. This came after a shot from Cowley was tipped away by the home keeper but the striker reacted sharply to turn the ball in.

Ware hit back on 49 minutes when Kieran Bishop fired home a shot, but Harlow held on to move into the second round.

"We are going well at the moment. We are a happy camp," added Chapman.

They face a trip to Ryman premier side Hampton & Richmond in the second round on a date yet to be confirmed.

Leopards off to great start – after borrowing a kit from Hawks!

ESSEX Leopards' first competitive match at the Harlow Leisurezone was a success – despite nicking a kit from Harlow Hawks!

The team got off to a winning start as Worthing Thunder were beaten 80-76 in the National Trophy on Saturday.

The Big Cats had trailed by as many as seven points in the third period and were still down by two at the final break before they took control in the fourth period to end Thunder's perfect start to the season.

The home side had to do without coach

Robert Youngblood for the majority of the game as he was stuck on the M11 for three hours, but Roger Malpass took charge of the team and picked up his first win as play-caller.

The Leopards had to borrow a kit from Hawks as theirs was with Youngblood.

Albert Margai led the Big Cats with 22 points, with Dave Ajomobi adding 18, Lawrence Brown 17 and Courtney Van Beest nine.

The travel problems and slightly delayed start didn't affect the home side as Ajomobi and Brown hit four points apiece as they rushed into an 11-0 lead to force a time-out from Thunder coach Danny Hildreth.

Thunder fought back, but Van Beest opened the second period with a lay-up.

Leopards went on a 7-0 run in the third quarter, but the score was still tight.

A three pointer from Nathan Ashby sparked a strong finish to the game from Leopards and despite a rather strange foul call on Margai, Ajomobi and Margai wrapped up the win at the foul line.

Chavis led Worthing with 20 points.

Future looks bright for young athletes

BY ALAN SCOTT

THE future looks bright for Harlow's young athletes, with many surging up the UK rankings.

It has been a phenomenal year for Harlow Athletic Club members Naomi Harryman and Will Marklew.

The pair have enjoyed huge success nationally, and have earned England call-ups.

Other athletes, who live in Harlow, are also taking massive strides as they make their way up the athletics ladder and follow in the footsteps of Harryman and Marklew.

Harryman is ranked fourth in the UK U17 girls for long jump and seventh in the high jump.

Meanwhile, three other Harlow school pupils also find themselves in the UK top 20 in their events in their respective age groups.

Mark Hall student Canaan Solomon, now 16, is tenth in the U17 boys 800m. His top time was 1min 54.2sec.

He is 18th in the 1500m with 4:00.8.

"These achievements are outstanding considering he has another year in this age group," explained West Essex Schools' team manager for cross country and track, John Stow, who lives in Harlow.

"Canaan is now looking forward to the cross country season where his main aim is a top eight finish in the English Schools at

BIG HOPES: Olivia Corbett, Kyesha Robinson, Naomi Harryman, Zoe Benton and Julia Sokol (Pic: Vikki Lince). Inset, Canaan Solomon

Blackburn next year which will give him an English vest.

"I believe Canaan will achieve that. On the track Canaan hopes to run around 3min 52/3 for the 1500 next summer."

Burnt Mill student Kyesha Robinson (13) is ninth in the UK U15 girls' 400m (62.09).

Like Canaan, Kyesha has another year in this age group.

"Kyesha will do limited cross country but will try and defend her West Essex Schools' cross country title, which she won last year for junior girls, this weekend," said Stow.

Next summer Kyesha will aim to go under 60 seconds for the 400m, which would place her on the UK all time list for U15 girls.

Both Canaan and Kyesha are based at Woodford Green AC.

Herts Phoenix AC athlete Zoe Benton (15), a student at Old Harlow's St Nicholas School, is the reigning England National ISA Championships 300m and 80m hurdles champion.

She is 19th in the UK U17 girls' 300ms hurdles rankings after clocking 45:6 this year.

Zoe also has another year in this age group.

Next summer she hopes to compete in the All England Schools Championships and to make the UK U17 girls' top five in the 300m hurdles. She also hopes to defend her England ISA 300m title.

At Watford, St Mark's student Olivia Corbett smashed her 1500m personal best by 14 seconds, running 5:37 for tenth in a mixed race.

Over a four-month period Olivia has bettered her time by a phenomenal 65 seconds at this distance.

Her St Mark's School mate Julia Sokol (13), was one place behind Olivia, running a PB of 5:50.

Julia has taken 55 seconds off her best time.

Running is certainly in the genes for Olivia, who is related to 1995 5000m World Champion Sonia O'Sullivan. She is hoping to run close to 5:00 for the 1500m and make her Essex Schools debut next year.
